Hemisphere Affairs co-host conference -*

Washington, DC – October 7-9, 2009 – Cynthia Rubio, co-founder, Radiant RFID was selected to represent North America at the Pathways to Prosperity Women Entrepreneurs conference. Approximately 70 Women Entrepreneurs from across the America's were selected to participate in the conference, hosted for the first time by the United States. Pathways to Prosperity in the Americas is an initiative that joins together countries in North, Central, and South America to identify policies and programs that will aid in the economic prosperity of all people.

The conference promotes networking among entrepreneurs, access to international markets, finance, and training for women throughout the America's. Nearly 80% of people living in poverty today are women and children. "It's amazing to see women from so many walks of life, educational backgrounds, and economic status come together for the common goal of simply making the lives of others better" said Rubio. "The domino effect of women helping women will be a powerful influence on the futures of so many".

When the press release is more than one page (more) in italics is written at the bottom of the first page.

At the top, far right hand margin on the second page (press releases should not be more than two pages long if at all possible and definitely not more than three) write the page number and do NOT capitalize the “p.”

About ABC Company

All press releases end with an “About . . .” section. The media knows to look for this info here. This section is written in advance of any press release. It is the first thing to be written when a company signs on for full service. This same boilerplate statement about the company is included at the end of each and every press release. It always includes the web site at the end if there is one.

To signify that the press release is finished and there are no more pages, three number signs centered with one space in between at the end are placed after the about section and, “For more information please visit the web site or contact and then give your Name, Title, phone and email address).
